

Ronald Feldman Fine Arts

For Immediate Release: January 23, 2015

WAVE & PARTICLE A Group Exhibition Celebrating Creative Capital's 15th Anniversary

February 14 – March 21, 2015

We are faced with a new kind of difficulty. We have two contradictory pictures of reality; separately neither of them fully explains the phenomena of light, but together they do.

Albert Einstein and Leopold Infeld, The Evolution of Physics, 1938 (on wave-particle duality)

Janine Antoni, Edgar Arceneaux, Heather Cassils, Patty Chang, Julia Christensen, Chris Doyle, Eric Dyer, LaToya Ruby Frazier, Ken Gonzales-Day, Brent Green, Kelly Heaton, Shih Chieh Huang, Jennie C. Jones, Brian Knep, Simone Leigh, Jennifer & Kevin McCoy, Matthew Moore with Braden King, Carlos Motta, Karyn Olivier, Laurie Jo Reynolds and Jeanine Oleson and Jean Casella, Jason Salavon, Gregory Sale, Miriam Simun, Jesse Sugarmann, SuttonBeresCuller, Sam Van Aken, Quintan Ana Wikswo

Ronald Feldman Fine Arts will present Wave & Particle, a group exhibition of more than two dozen artists who are awardees of Creative Capital, in celebration of the organization's 15th anniversary. In general, the artists in the exhibition address contemporary issues surrounding conditions that might be rectified; and the selection of artworks embraces the notion of synthesizing contradictory elements. Using the principle of wave-particle duality in quantum physics as a metaphor, the exhibition muses on how one might describe or consider objects that can be read in more than one way.

The exhibition presents a wide range of media including videos, sculptures, ready-mades, prints, photographs, floor works, ceiling hangings, and objects that incorporate electronics and light. The works tell jokes, breathe, induce altered states, invite spiritual contemplation, or call us to political action.

The exhibition is also a modest celebration of Creative Capital's support of innovative artists across the country. Its pioneering approach surrounds adventurous artists in all disciplines with the tools they need to realize their visions and build sustainable careers. Since 1999, Creative Capital's awards program has committed more than $35 million in financial and advisory support to 465 projects representing 579 artists. Its Professional Development Program has reached nearly 10,000 artists in more than 400 communities through workshops and webinars.

Wave & Particle includes a very small sample of the artists working in the disciplines of visual arts, performing arts, moving image, literature, and emerging fields that Creative Capital has supported over the years.

Special thanks to Sean Elwood, Director, Programs & Initiatives for Creative Capital.

A press kit with more information can be found at: <http://bit.ly/188TzTL>

A preview of the exhibition is available on Artsy: <http://bit.ly/1uVZaH2>

Reception on Saturday, February 14, 6-8. Gallery hours are Tuesday-Saturday, 10-6. Monday by appointment. For more information, contact Casey Dorobek (212) 226-3232 or casey@feldmangallery.com

31 Mercer Street, New York, New York 10013
212 226-3232 fax 212 941-1536 www.feldmangallery.com